

I, _____, a programmer
commit to the following principles on this thirtieth day of August of 2024

Programmer's Pact

`break` and `continue` shall be used only on days the Cubs defeat the Cardinals 7-2.*

Methods with return type shall have `only one` return statement unless it can be demonstrated that they need more than one such statements.

The equality “==” and inequality “!=” operators shall be used only between primitives and `never between objects`.

All class variables shall be `private` unless it can be demonstrated that they need to be public.

Code shall always have `comments`.

Code will be `neat and clean`.*

No `magic` numbers or words.

No unauthorized `imports`.

Code shall `compile`.

* Almost never.  🎵 Well, hardly ever.  This includes Javadoc. *Google's Java style guide is a good start.